

IODP-MSP (Exp. 347) VISUAL SECTION UNIT DESCRIPTION

|             |            |           |           |           |              |
|-------------|------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|--------------|
| Exp.347 | Site63 | HoleC | Core3 | TypeH | Section2 |
|-------------|------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|--------------|

|                  |               |                    |
|------------------|---------------|--------------------|
| Date07.02.14 | Time10:30 | ObserversMK/SP |
|------------------|---------------|--------------------|

| [cm] | Graphic Lith. | Bioturb. | Structure   Fossils | Sorting     | Round-ness | Color | Accessories | Core Disturbance | Description  |
|------|---------------|----------|---------------------|-------------|------------|-------|-------------|------------------|--|
|      |               |          |                     | w m vp bl r | a          |       |             |                  |  |
| 0    |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• back to greenish black organic-rich clay (M2.5)</li> <li>• lamination by color</li> <li>• very well sorted</li> <li>• many cracks due to degassing (expanded)</li> <li>• reddish laminae (Rhodocrosite?)</li> <li>• oxidized along cracks and core line at 100-136cm</li> <li>• moderately disturbed (expanded due to degassing)</li> </ul> |
| 10   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 20   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 30   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 40   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 50   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 60   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 70   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 80   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 90   |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 100  |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 110  |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 120  |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 130  |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 140  |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 150  |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |
| 160  |               |          |                     |             |            |       |             |                  |  |

few reddish laminae (Rhodocrosite?)